

MUST SEE AND DO

- Explore Australia's largest open cut mine, the Super Pit near Kalgoorlie
- Learn the history of the Gold Rush at the Prospectors and Miners Hall of Fame in Kalgoorlie
- Have a yarn in the pub with the locals in Kalgoorlie
- Visit the iconic Wave Rock near Hyden
- See the Gormley Statues at Lake Ballard
- Visit the ghost town of Gwalia near Leonora
- Explore Mount Magnet, the oldest surviving gold settlement of the region
- Take in the beauty of Mount Augustus, the largest rock in Australia

The Goldfields is a region overflowing with old time charm and wonderful legends. Diverse scenery with salt plains broken by rocky outcrops, several species of eucalypt and a brilliant display of colourful wildflowers in spring, combined with eerie ghost towns and historic settlements make the Goldfields an experience like no other.

Step back in time and experience a ghostly trip down an old mine shaft. Get to know the lively locals of Kalgoorlie an active mining town with 800,000 ounces of gold produced each year at the Super Pit Mine. Explore the massive mine or take in the majestic architecture which is a signature of the town.

One and a half hours' drive north of Kalgoorlie are the renowned Gormley Statues, live art by the famous British artist Antony Gormley. The site of the 51 steel black statues shimmering like a mirage as you approach is awesome.

Journey through the Wheatbelt, a charming rural region with country pubs, quaint main streets and friendly locals. A sight not to be missed is the geological marvel of Wave Rock near Hyden. More than 100 metres long and 15 metres high, it resembles a huge surf wave and is believed to have taken more than 2,700 million years to be formed.

Murchison, 'The shire with no town', in the north west of the Golden Outback, is home to just 15 people, abundant wildlife, sprawling stations, shimmering river pools and carpets of wildflowers in spring. Take in the beauty of the largest rock in Australia, Mt Augustus in Mt Augustus National Park, explore Kennedy Range National Park, or experience a unique station stay.

It is a must to visit the Golden Outback in spring when the rugged landscape is transformed by splashes of delicate wildflowers. Nature lovers will be impressed with the many national parks and the woodlands of the Darling Range for fabulous wildlife and bush walking experiences.

The Golden Outback region is rich in heritage and adventure, colour, and natural wonders.
